

Natural Gas Market Project in Beijing, Shanghai, and Guangdong

Sponsored by
Program on Energy and Sustainable Development, Stanford University

Organized by
Energy, Environment and Economy Research Institute, Tsinghua University

Room A211, Energy Science Building, Tsinghua University
March 21, 2005

- 9:00-9:15     Short Introductory Remarks
- 9:15-10:00   Presentation on World Natural Gas Market
Professor David Victor, Stanford University
- 10:00-10:45   Two Viewpoints on China's Natural Gas resources and development strategy.
Professor Zhang Kang
- 10:45-11:00   Break
- 11:00-11:45   Beijing Natural Gas Development Planning
Professor Tong Deliang, Urban Planning Research Institute, Beijing
- 11:45-12:30   Current Status of Beijing Energy Use and the Future Development Trends
Mrs. Tong Qing, Energy, Environment and Economy Research Institute, Tsinghua University
- 12:30-14:00   Lunch
- 14:00-14:45   Development of Shanghai's Energy Industry: Status Quo and Prediction
Professor Luo Yonghao, Shanghai Jiaotong University
- 14:45-15:30   Guangdong Natural Gas Development Background

Professor Zeng Lemin, Guangdong Techno-economy Research
Development Center

15:30-15:45 Break

15:45-17:00 Project team discussion