

Shorenstein-APARC Energy Efficiency Workshop Agenda
June 19, 2009

8:30a.m. Breakfast

9:00a.m. – 9:30a.m. FRAMING THE ISSUES

The Comparative Politics of Energy Efficiency Policy

Phillip Lipsy, Assistant Professor, Political Science, Stanford University

9:30a.m. – 12:00p.m. JAPAN' S EXPERIENCE

Japan's Energy Efficiency Policy

Yukari Yamashita, Institute for Energy Economics, Japan

Learning from Japan: Promoting Energy Efficiency Abroad

Kenichi Wada, Institute for Energy Economics, Japan

The Politics of Energy Policy in Japan

Llewelyn Hughes, Assistant Professor, Political Science, GWU

Japan's Long-term Energy Efficiency Strategies

Yu Nagatomi, Institute for Energy Economics, Japan

Discussants

John Zysman, Professor, UC Berkeley

Benjamin Self, Shorenstein-APARC, Stanford University

12:00p.m. – 1:00p.m. Lunch

1:00p.m. – 3:30p.m. CASE STUDIES

Localities in Japan and the USA: Kenji Kushida, UC Berkeley

California: Anant Sudarsham, Precourt Institute for Energy Efficiency, Stanford

China: Li Zhidong, Nagaoka University of Technology, Japan (presented by Ms. Yamashita)

South Korea: Kim Seonghee, Institute for Energy Economics, Japan

Discussants

James Sweeney, Precourt Institute for Energy Efficiency

Daniel Sneider, Shorenstein-APARC, Stanford University

3:45p.m. – 5:00p.m. RESEARCH DISCUSSION

How does this workshop help to define the political economy of energy efficiency? What policies seem most effective in creating efficiency and what are the political and policy-making circumstances that promote those policies? What are future topics for research? How does this workshop help us define a more precise research agenda for the future?

6:00p.m. – 9:00pm WORKING DINNER

Dinner meeting of all participants to discuss paper revision and publication plans. How can these presentations be organized into an edited volume?